STREAMLINE THE BALLOT

Editor Carl Hanton of the Fort Myers News-Press, says that the "next order of business," while it is fresh in mind "on this morning after," is to do something to clear up the crazy-quilt ballot with which the voters struggled yesterday.

Most everybody will agree with the Fort Myers editor that something should be done, both to shorten down and simplify the primary election ballot.

Editor Hanton thinks that the presidential electors and national committeemen and committeewomen should be taken off the ballot, by the simple expedient of having the state committee name them. That's a sensible suggestion. But what is more to the point, as most people will agree, is the necessity for clearing up the puzzling situation which clouds the identity of candidates for the national convention.

If it takes legislation to do it, let's have a law passed making it easier for the grouping of delegates together under a distinguished heading, to show their pledged allegiance. It might be even advisable to make it possible to cast a vote for an entire group by making one X mark instead of scattering them opposite each name in the different groups.

We are streamlining our income tax statement and forms to meet the popular demand. We could streamline the Florida primary ballot if the people raise their voice and demand that it be done.—Ocala Star-Banner.

FLORIDA'S OLDEST

We haven't checked the records, but we're perfectly willing to hazard the guess that Jefferson Alexander Hendley of Pasco county will be the oldest member in attendance at the 1945 session of the Florida Legislature. He is 86 years old and was nominated last week over a much younger opponent.

It won't be Representative Hendley's first official visit to Tallahassee. He is the only surviving signer of the Florida constitution adopted in 1885.—Lakeland Ledger.

JOB PROTECTION

Replace your drafted office personnel with good-looking marriageable girls. When the soldiers return they'll marry the girls, set 'em up in housekeeping and get back their jobs. This will save you the trouble of firing the girls.—Win. Feather Magazine.

Alaska and Hawaii, gave a report from Washington and received a rousing round of applause from his fellow Lions at the finish.

Malcolm won the distinction of being the only winner from the state of Florida. Other states had many winners. He went on to say in his talk that the ceremony in the Congressional Room of the Statler Hotel was the most impressive he had ever attended. At this time he was awarded the illuminated scroll, framed a beautiful medalion, a letter of citation and "E" buttons of merits for all of his employees.

Malcolm made arrangements with the Treasury Department to give enough buttons that he could present them to some of the heads of the organizations who did such great work in this last drive. Rupert Molk will receive the button for the Lions.

Summer weather has started in the Glades, the vegetable season is winding up and we're all getting ready to go fishing.

CIRCLE MEETS

The Simonsen-Lair Circle, Methodist WACS, met at the home of Mrs. E. J. Schroder Monday afternoon with Mrs. Ralph Stanley presiding in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Emma Wheeler.

The Circle voted to hold one meeting a month through the summer, each to be held jointly with the Gertrude Shipley Circle on the third Monday night of the month and to include both business and social activities. The group also voted to entertain members of the Pahokee High School, graduating class who also are members of the church. Mrs. T. A. Ferguson and Mrs. Schroder were named in charge of this affair.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Twenty nine men attended the Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, Pahokee, last Sunday, concentrating the purchase of additional chairs. The class quartet, Messers, Spooner, Adams, Butler and Cowart, with G. Sanders at the piano, will favor with two numbers this Sunday. The starting time is 9:45. A most cordial invitation is extended to unaffiliated men of the community. The pastor, Rev. C. A. Morgan is the teacher, subject this week, "Paul's Encourager".

Vegetable Group To Meet May 31st At Orlando

Florida vegetable growers and shippers who gather next Wednesday, May 31, at Orlando for the first annual meeting of the Florida Vegetable Committee, are looking forward with optimism to the possibility of laying the foundation for great improvement in price ceilings, labor and materials next year.

It will be a business session from start to finish, according to Committee Chairman E. W. Lins, with no set speeches to interfere with solid round-table discussions of all phases of the problems of the industry.

"The meeting will provide opportunity for the members to present the Florida vegetable problem in its overall aspects to an outstanding representative of the Federal government," Judge William C. Coven, the highly-regarded assistant administrator of the War Food Administration, Mr. Lins said. "Judge Coven will be in attendance to learn first hand what the growers and shippers need. The Florida Vegetable Committee meeting furnishing an ideal vehicle to enable Judge Coven to get the true picture from the growers personally."

"Next Year's Program" is the basic theme of the meeting. Materials, fertilizers, containers, labor and price ceilings are being given their spots on the discussion program.

Eleven new directors representing all phases of the industry and all parts of the state, will be up for election.

The sessions of the annual meeting will be held at the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce Building. The opening session will start at 10 a. m.

WACS

With 68,000 members, the WACS seek many additional women for work with the Army. General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, expresses the hope that "the women of America" will respond to the urgent call for a large and urgently necessary increase in the strength of the Corps.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Did you hear that Tom is going to be inducted into the Army next week, Judge?"
"Yes, Frank told me this morning down at the barber shop. Our town's got a lot of men in the service now, Jim. In fact, all towns have. I was just reading in the paper where there are more than 10,000,000 men away from their homes in the armed forces. And, from all reports, they're doing a grand job in making victory closer every day."
"We folks at home have a mighty big obligation to those 10,000,000 fighting men. We've got to produce the food to keep them well fed. We've got to keep them supplied with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. We've got to help the Government pay for all these supplies our men need by buying more and more War Bonds. We'll have another big chance to do that by helping to put the 5th War Loan drive over the top, Jim."

"And, in addition, we must be sure that, while they're away and can't express their opinions, we don't go voting and deciding any things that will displease them when they come back."

Will you help their calls get through this evening?

Evening is about the only time most service men have to call. Then there is a rush on Long Distance lines from camps, naval stations and air bases.

You can help by leaving the lines from seven to ten for the service men.

HERE'S WHY Your trip may have to wait

Somewhere a military division gets orders to move. That takes a lot of Pullmans and other railroad equipment. A class of airmen finish their course and transfer to another field. That requires for a distant port.

Every day, in all parts of the country, this goes on. Military units, ranging in size from thousands of men down to small groups traveling under orders must be moved. One-half of all available Pullman cars and almost one-third of all the railroad coaches are thus employed.

So if you find all the Pullman and coach space reserved on some of our trains weeks in advance, the reason for this is not difficult to understand. Far less than a normal amount of railroad space is available, yet due to gasoline and tire rationing more people than ever are traveling by train.

The men and women behind our ticket counters are doing their very best to serve you under these trying conditions. No one would be happier than they if we could operate the extra trains and extra sections necessary to accommodate everyone as we were able to do, with few exceptions, during peacetime.

But with a war to win, we have to get along the best we can with the equipment and space that is left over after all military requirements have been met.

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Miller

If you want to have the time of your life at a movie be sure and attend the performance at the Prince Theater Sunday-Monday. For on those dates they are showing "True To Life", one of the funniest comedies about people on the "home front" that we have played for some time.

The story has to do with two radio writers who are hard put for material for stories. Powell, one of them, discovers Mary Martin and there is a case of love at first sight. Complications arise of such proportions that there is a split between the lovers, but conditions adjust themselves and all ends well.

We all remember "Union Pacific" as one of Cecil B. DeMille's most spectacular shows of this age. And I am sure we all will be glad to hear that this show will be screened at the Prince Theater this Tuesday-Wednesday with Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea, Akim Tamiroff, Robert Preston, Lynn Overman, Brian Donlevy and thousands of lesser players.

I don't need to tell you the story. Most of you are familiar with it. I don't have to tell you it's a good show. You all know that.

So I won't say any more about it at this time.

Members of the Six Shooters Club will see The Three Mesquiteers in action this Saturday when they present "Valley of the Hunted Men," which is reported to be a jiffy up action show.

Well, folks, you can get ready for the Fifth War Loan Drive. Hold this thought in mind. If Pahokee and Canal Point can step out and take their place among one hundred managers chosen from 16,500 theatres in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii, we can do it again. And we're going to do it again! Girl, yourself and get ready for I'll be asking you. See you at the movies—Mal.

BACK in the days when the German war machine was steam-rolling over Europe, the Reich Marshal boasted: "If one enemy bomb should ever fall in the City of Berlin, then my name isn't Hermann Goering!"

Well, Fat Boy, they've fallen—and there are plenty more where those came from! With plenty of giant bombers to bring them—and well-trained crews to see they reach their mark!

And back of these aerial armies is the productive power of free men and women—multiplied many times by electric power—turning the wheels that turn all the weapons of war.

And back of this abundant electricity is the hard work of the folks who man and manage the nation's self-supporting, tax-paying light and power companies. They provide over 80% of America's power. They keep it on tap all the time—wherever and whenever needed—for war plants and civilian uses.

Most of the American people share in the job. For they, through their savings banks in the electric light and power companies under business management, have helped to give this country the best electric service in the world—and the most—at the least cost. Only freedom of enterprise—regulation without regimentation—could have written this record!

GLADES GLANCES

To Judge George Tedder of Belle Glade goes the credit for the shortest campaign speech in the history of Palm Beach county. During the first primary when he was opposed for re-election as judge of peace by G. A. Hubbell, Judge Tedder made his now historic speech in the Belle Glade school auditorium. Being the incumbent in the race, Judge Tedder followed Mr. Hubbell to the platform. Pointing at Mr. Hubbell the judge said: "You've heard that and you've seen this take your choice." Judge Tedder was re-elected by a big majority.

This office had a letter from Guy Stovall the first of the week. Guy is now located in San Francisco but didn't say in his letter what he was doing or how long he planned to be there. He sent along some cash and asked that he receive the paper for several weeks in order that he could check up on the outcome of the primary elections.

Otto Bleech, popular Pahokee insurance man, this week, announces his entrance into the real estate business. For a long time Otto has thought that he should be in the real estate business with his growing insurance agency and this week he makes his start. You'll find his announcement elsewhere in this issue in which he seeks listings. Otto has a reputation for fair dealing and those who wish to transact real estate business with him can rest assured that they'll get a square deal.

Melvin Spooner, one of Uncle Sam's sailors, is home this week on furlough. Melvin said he had 15 days but more than half the time will be taken up in getting home and getting back to his location in Glenswood Springs, Cal. He has put on about 20 pounds and looks exceptionally good in his natty uniform.

Arthur Bush left Pahokee last week for Texas where he planned to visit his son, Jack, who recently became a member of Uncle Sam's army. It seems that the day before Arthur arrived in Texas, Jack was assigned to a long hike for several days. Anyway Arthur plans to stay right there until Jack returns so he can give him all the first line information about home and home folks.

J. H. Wilkinson, Sr., has just returned from Clayton, Ga., where he spent a couple of weeks. Mr. Wilkinson reports that the cotton crop is a little behind schedule this year due to heavy rains. The corn is short, too, he said. When questioned about the tobacco crop Mr. Wilkinson said that is looked "pretty good" and stands a fair chance of bringing some good money to the tobacco growers of Evans county.

PRUDENCE-IN-FLATIONLAND

An imaginary journey into a World we hope WE'LL never see!

PRUDENCE: For Heaven's sake, aren't you satisfied? Why do you have to have $1500 a week?

WORKMAN: Well, you see it's this way: bread's $100 a loaf—rent's $2000 a month—it takes $1500 a week just to get by!

PRUDENCE: Gosh, that's terrible! And your wife's going to have a new baby, too!

WORKMAN: I know! That'll just about sink us.

PRUDENCE: You don't like it here in Inflationland, eh?

WORKMAN: Prudence, in the good old days we made good money—it didn't sound as big—but it would buy all the things we needed and we'd have some left for "extras."

PRUDENCE: That's the tough part. Pay goes up, which makes things cost more. So wages rise again. Then up go costs. So your raises don't mean anything. And it keeps on until money just doesn't buy anything any more. Perhaps bread won't be $100 a loaf—that's exaggerated. But if food and clothes and rent doubled or tripled we'd all be sunk! Pity the country where inflation strikes! Inflation can be avoided in America.

Inflation is one enemy we can all fight and beat...by buying only what we need, by conserving what we have, by putting every dollar we can into fighting the War and ensuring a sound post-war America...through buying and holding War bonds and increasing our savings.
